Self Study

1971 - 1975: A year of self-study and reaffirmation of accreditation for Marymount College at Boca Raton.

1974 - 1975 will be one of the most, if not the most important academic year for Marymount College at Boca Raton. In May, 1975, the college will be evaluated by a visiting committee from the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges. The visiting committee's evaluation of Marymount will decide whether its accreditation will be reaffirmed for the next ten years.

A college-wide Self-Study Program must be completed one month before the committee's visit. This Program is designed to help Marymount reassess its objectives, measure success in attaining objectives, and explore ways and means by which educational efficiency may be improved.

The committee's approval of Marymount's Self-Study Program is necessary for reaffirmation of accreditation.

Since the committee will evaluate the completeness and thoroughness of the Self-Study Program, it is essential that all of us understand what constitutes an effective Self-Study Program for Marymount College.

First, the entire college must participate in the Self-Study Program. Whether it be committee work — collecting data, reporting writing, interviewing — or answering a questionnaire or participating in a discussion forum — all of us must give our full support and cooperation to the self-study effort and be knowledgeable about its progress.

Secondly, we must aim to make the Self-Study Program comprehensive in its scope. We must make sure to examine and evaluate the past and the present in resources, faculty, students, and programs in relation to the purpose and objectives of the college.

Third, the Self-Study

Program must provide us with an in-depth critical analysis of our college. But this analysis must be positive and forward looking and not negative and backward looking. We must look toward the future in order to create new and better education horizons for Marymount College.

Finally, we must focus on the future. We must try to answer the question of what long range goals are necessary to achieve full realization of Marymount's role in higher education.

Work on the Self-Study Program has already begun. Last Spring, both the Steering Committee and the Principal Self-Study Committees were established. Exhaustive descriptive data about our college was collected by each of the Principal Committees and reviewed by the Steering Committee.

This Fall the work of self-study must continue. We must now critically examine the wealth of information gathered last Spring. In positive terms, we must evaluate the educational effectiveness of our college. We must identify problems and make recommendations for solving them.

The committees will interview students, staff, faculty, members of the administration and the board of trustees. Discussion groups and forums will be organized. Opinion polls will be taken. All of us will be actively involved in the evaluative process of self-study.

1974 - 1975 will be a crucial year for Marymount College. It will be an exciting and rewarding year for all of us. It will be a year in which we all work together to build a better Marymount. 1974 - 1975 will be a year of self-study and reaffirmation of accreditation.

Academic Year 1974-75

And The Educational Program

Comments by
DR. MAZARELLA

With the beginning of a new Academic year and the many additional new students to our Marymount College Community, I felt it appropriate at this time to share these academic highlights with you.

The new academic year should prove to be a very rewarding educational experience for you for several reasons.

I know that every Marymount student is aware of the never-varying truth that you'll get nowhere if you start nowhere. Further, if your aim in life is vague, your achievements will also be vague and it might well be added, very meager. The majority of you have a definite (chief) aim for being with us and we desire to assist you in a very definite and practical plan for making your aim become a reality. Our college is small enough for you to easily form an alliance with Administrators, faculty and fellow students who will cooperate with you in carrying out these plans and transforming your chief aim into reality through the educational process.

I am very confident that we have provided you with professional administrators and faculty to help meet individual needs and assisting you during the educational process. These of you who are not new at Marymount this year will immediately recognize changes including growth in faculty and administrative staff.

Our faculty and administrators are continuously planning to enrich and expand the educational program through various college committee meetings and outside career advisory people. I foresee in the very near future an evening division developing in continuing education and allied health programs as vital aspects of our college activities.

I hope that each of you desiring to achieve academically and who may be in the need of assistance consider the following:

My office, as well as that of the Assistant to the Vice President for Instruction, Dr. Belford, is open to you should have a major academic or program problem. Further, our well qualified faculty who are also your academic advisers, are anxious to devote their time appropriately to classroom teaching and your academic advising. Make it a point to see your assigned adviser periodically.

Dr. Favareau, the college counselor, is extremely well qualified to assist you and give you guidance in personal problems that may be interfering with your goal achievement.

Mr. Muller is specially trained in library science and service and will provide you with library resource material to support your classroom learning whenever possible.

In conclusion, you have embarked upon a rewarding academic year and I'm certain you will achieve your goal at Marymount by your continuous, unyielding, persistent effort.

In a "togetherness" with each of you, I look forward to an enjoyable academic year which is also our reaffirmation of accreditation year.

People And Places

From a total of 415 applicants, 221 new students were enrolled at Marymount this Fall. The ratio of female to male students is 60 to 40 percent. There are 190 residents and 31 day students.

This year's class included applicants from 34 states and 25 foreign nations. Among the foreign students are from Aruba, the Bahamas, Belize, Bermuda, China, Curacao, England, Ethiopia, Holland, Iran, Japan, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Quebec, Vietnam, and the West Indies. The tennis team will have some new international stars in Sabita Maharaj from Trinidad, and Wilhelmina Huisman from Holland.

Florida and New York are practically even as to numbers of students from each state and New Jersey is close behind them. The best represented states in order after these are: Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Virginia, Ohio, Puerto Rico, Delaware, New Hampshire, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Colorado, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Hawaii.

We Need Your Help

And That Means You

This first issue of the college paper was put out by three involved and dedicated students and by various generous members of the faculty and administration. While we appreciate the help of these people very much, this must never happen again. A college paper must serve the entire college community, and that means that the more students who become involved with the paper, the more representative of you the paper will be.

What we are leading up to is this: we need your help in making this paper a success. If you can write, take photographs, draw cartoons, have had experience with high school papers or yearbooks, we need you. If you can type or do layout work, we need you. And if you can't do any of the above, but have a good heart and a desire to work, we'll teach you.

If you have something to say, write a letter to the editor (and sign your name, please). Very soon we will be announcing the first meeting of the paper staff, and if you're interested, please attend. This is your paper, so please help to make it a good one.

Carol Wershoven
Faculty advisor

Welcome From The President

It is my pleasure to personally welcome you to Marymount College. The entire college community has been eagerly awaiting your arrival on campus.

Your choice of a college is a significant one and your decision to become a member of the student body at Marymount, I believe, will assist you in achieving your educational goals. This decision, coupled with the dedication of our faculty and administration to your total growth and development, will enable us to prepare you for your effective adult living.

You will find Marymount College a small, friendly academic community. As a member of our community, I hope that you will help us build the traditions for all future students.

My best wishes are extended to you for a successful and rewarding year at Marymount.

Donald E. Ross, President

SGA: Elections Will Help Us Function

Nearly every college or university in the country has a student government. Some are set up as "learning experiences" for students to get a taste of the real world, some function as the foundation of student life and others don't function at all.

The first and last types of student government mentioned have very little value other than inflating the egos of those involved. This is the type of student government we have all suffered through in high school, in other colleges, or here at our own college. The purpose of this year's SGA is to provide the students of this school with an organized body to accomplish things individuals cannot.

The SGA will have two basic functions this year. The first is a legislative function which involves recommending and adopting new procedures and rules or revising old ones. The second involves student activities and entertainment, such as dances, concerts, or any other type of entertainment that is suggested throughout the year.

Before anything can be accomplished though, the Student Senate must be elected. The elected student government now consists of four officers. Only the Student Senate can pass resolutions for legislative changes and without a Senate it is difficult for the vice-president to get activities organized. The type of people we elect for the Senate will directly reflect the type of life we will have on campus this year. Everyone should direct their gripes (dorm visitation and cafeteria regulations, for example) to these candidates and force them to come up with ideas on how to correct these problems.

If we do this there is no reason why this will not be the most successful year Marymount has ever had.

— Pat Winburn

SGA

The Student Government Association of Marymount College consists of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and six Senators. The President presides over the Senate during SGA meetings.

Committees are created as they are needed. There are two committees, though, that are always in existence. The Student Entertainment Committee is headed by the Vice-President of the SGA. They handle all student entertainment (dances, movies, etc.) and special meetings.

The other committee is the Student Court. The Student Court consists of one member of the administration, two members of the faculty, and two students. The students on the committee are appointed by the SGA President. The Student Court handles appeals from students who feel they have been improperly punished.

Elections for SGA officers are held in the spring of each year and elections for Senators are held during the month of September. Any student of Marymount College can file for office and run as long as they are not on academic probation.

Anyone interested in running for the Student Senate can file for office by filling out a nomination form and giving it to any SGA officer or bringing it to the SGA office in room D202 in Patton.

London - Dublin For Christmas

Does the idea of a trip to the British Isles over Christmas vacation appeal to you? Want to earn credit for it?

Marymount and Wilmington College are offering a London-Dublin travel seminar for January 6-25 of this year. Three college credits may be earned for the trip, and the work for the credits will be done this fall so you can be free to enjoy a trip. Or, you can merely travel without earning credit. The trip is open to anyone — students, relatives, friends from other colleges.

The cost of the trip is $710 — and that includes air fare from New York, tuition, room, board, and theatre tickets. If you are interested, $100 deposit (non-refundable) must be in by September 30. For the itinerary and further information see Ms. Wer-shoven, Library building.

Resident Life With A "Quirk"

Director of Resident Life this year is Mr. Allan Quirk, who will supervise student conduct on campus as well as organize and administer various student activities, intramural sports, basketball, and the women's tennis team. Mr. Quirk has his B.A. from Michigan State, his M.S. from the University of Oregon, and spent two years in pro football. He comes to us from two years at Lane Community College, where he taught tennis and basketball. In the summers Mr. Quirk has been tennis pro at Lakeshore Racquet Club in Chicago and played in the Southern USLTA Tournament circuit.

New Librarian

"Changes and more changes. This will be the byword for the library this year. For starters, how about a new librarian? Well, I'm here. My name is Chuck Muller and I hope that I am able to do all that I can to help you, the student, during your maltrication at Marymount.

I have some new plans to enable the student to get more out of the library and its resources. But, for us to get there, we must take it one step at a time. Number one is that if any of you have any suggestions to improve the library, please make certain that I receive them.

The biggest change made in library policy concerns reserve materials. All students will have to leave their I.D. card at the circulation desk when reserve materials are checked out for the two hour time period for the use of the material. The main reason for this policy change is to cut down on the theft of reserve materials and to enable everybody to have the opportunity to use the material. If no one else wants to use the material, it may be checked out for an additional two-hour period. Overnight use of reserve materials remains the same: checkout one half hour before closing and return by 9 a.m. the following day. Fines for overdue reserve materials will be 25 cents an hour.

During the school year, further changes will be made. When this is done, a notice will be put in the school paper and signs will be posted. I do hope that everyone will cooperate and make my first year at Marymount a great one.

Tentatively, over Christmas vacation the entire physical layout of the library will change. Surprise — I won't tell you how it will change, but it will be a pleasant change all of us will enjoy.

My door is open to all. Come on in and talk as I'd like to get to know all of you. A busy, but fun year is ahead for all of us. Have fun!!"

Advice On The Advisors

In Patton Hall senior Greg Malfitano has been appointed head advisor. A communications major, Greg is already well known for his simultaneous impersonations of Ronald Ziegler and Cousin Brucie. A 21-year-old 'Cuse man, Greg enjoys smoking punk and is reputed to be a hired Mafia lady-killer.

Bill Volz and Bob DiGiovanni are resident advisors in A and B wings, respectively. Bill is a twenty-two year old aviation management major whose hobbies are subverting the FAA and lying. A resident of Long Island, Bill organizes chain gangs in his spare time. Bob, also known as "Deej," bears a striking resemblance to St. Augustine and Al Capone. Twenty-one-year-old Deej professes an ambition to replace Hemo's right arm. Another Long Islander, Bob enjoys drinking and drinking, although his major is business.

Bob Heslin, a resident of Rochester, N. Y., is majoring in aviation management and is reputed to be a fierce competitor in the annual small-craft demolition derby. Nineteen and thirty eight years old, Bob is the advisor for D wing and can often be found missing.

Completing the Patton Hall staff, Brian O'Toole is proof that blondes do have more fun. He enjoys hanging by the skin of his teeth and is a master of the viola, though he can only play one note and cannot read music. Brian is a twenty-year-old native of Crestwood, N. Y.

Marqui Riva, a tap dancer and juggler in her youth, will be overseeing the 41 wing of Wixted Hall. Marqui hails from Cuba originally and now calls Stuart, Fla. (sailfish capital of the world) home. Marqui is twenty-one years old, a Taurus (watch out!) and twice runner up in the Miss America pageant. Her favorite hobbies are brushing her teeth and crossing her eyes. Marqui can usually be found crouching in the corner of her room looking for crickets (she loves 'em fried) or walking her plants.

The advisor in the 31 wing McCarthy, also known as e. e. cummings, though her friends sometimes call her Art due to her frequent appearances on Jeopardy where she has won such prizes as a pass to close R. C.'s every night and a complete collection of Nelson Eddy albums. M. F.'s age is undetermined, as she was lost in a time tunnel at age three, but she is judged to be twenty years old. A native of Manhasset, N. Y., she enjoys cracking gum and making obscene phone calls.

Jody Millsbaugh, advisor in the 21 wing, races stripped down Volkswagens for a hobby. She resides in Upperco, Maryland, is eighteen years old, and has won the Duncan yo-yo grand nationals for three consecutive years. After her appointment as head advisor Jody reportedly shocked her friends by exclaiming "Zowie!". Jody hopes to see Wixted become either a novitate or a Holiday Inn.

In the 11 wing, Tina Pezzimenti has been assigned resident advisor.

"What do you mean, my room is right next door to Richie Woo?"

Odds & Ends

1. We hope that Joanne Asher and Ame Ruth Art get to do some horseback riding while they're down here.
2. Rober Bremer, did you get your roommate situation straightened out?
3. Will we see a lot of Kimberley Barnett on the tennis courts?
4. Pamela Bookstaver likes to write; would she like to write for the college paper?
5. Stephanie Delaney and Ellen Brady won't get in much snow-skiing while they're down here!
6. Maybe Anthony Campione will sing and play guitar in the Rathskellar.
7. Joanne DelMastro will find that our business courses should help her with her plans to become a legal secretary.

8. We expect that Joseph Gabrielski will be hitting all the local golf courses this year.

9. We hope to see Willie and Lee Cameron on our basketball team.

10. Foreign students this year include: Salim-Shah, from Pakistan; Helma Huisman, from Holland; Mark Mello, from Bermuda; Ziba Ehteshami, from Teheran, Iran; and Maria Azva and Fran DuPre from Puerto Rico.

11. Christopher Hartley, from Nassau, Bahamas should find skin diving in Florida a change from the Bahamas and Bermuda.

12. Mark Lowstuter's business courses should be a snap for him — after his real estate course!

13. Alexander Macon would like to publish his own newspaper some day — would he help us with ours?

14. Patricia McGovern, who is interested in pre-school and special education, should find her education, psychology and sociology courses a challenge.

15. Linda North will be able to go back and visit her friends at Pompano Beach High.

16. Will Kathleen Stark work at forming a Young Republicans Club on campus?

17. We might see a lot of Robert Tarnell in the art Studio — he was in the art club at school in Tarrytown, N. Y.

What Happened At Marymount Over The Summer

The Marymount campus was busy this summer. In addition to our own summer school, Marymount hosted many guests this summer. The Bob Griesse-Carl Noonan Sports' Camp for Boys was held here from June 16 to July 6. During the week of July 7, the CFO organization, an interfaith religious group, sponsored a study week for families. Between July 12 and 21, the Ba'Hai group, who had been to Marymount the previous summer, returned to campus for their annual week of renewal and reflection.

The campus is attracting many groups during the vacation periods, and it is for this reason that Trinity Hall has become a Conference Center, to accomodate guests.

As you may also have noticed, during the summer the campus buildings were steam cleaned, making our campus a little brighter!

New Dean

Mr. Walter VanderHeijden, Marymount's new Dean of Administration and Student Services, has asked for the cooperation of all of us to help improve the general atmosphere on campus.

Mr. VanderHeijden suggested that "we can all help to improve the atmosphere" and he told PULSE that he will be open to all suggestions and help in developing the quality of student life.

The new Dean explained his objectives for student life: 1) to present a flexible yet structured guideline for a calmer, more mature life in the dormitories, 2) to present a positive, objective tone for constructive improvement on campus, and 3) to work on the general atmosphere on campus. He also suggested strongly that everyone read the new student handbook, as it contains certain changes in the areas of judicial procedure, due process, dorm life, and policies on drugs and alcohol.

Discussing other changes on campus, Mr. VanderHeijden mentioned the creation of a non-denominational meditation chapel at the east end of Founders' Hall, to serve as "a quiet place to get away from it all," "a possible alternative to the dorms and the Rathskellar." In addition, there has been a change in parking: the first row of parking by the library building will be reserved for faculty and administration.

Mr. VanderHeijden was formerly headmaster of Dorado Academy, Puerto Rico, and he and Mrs. VanderHeijden and their small son Vincent spent the summer on the Marymount campus organizing the student services area.

Upper Division

Mr. Kenneth Howie, the new Director of Wilmington College at Boca Raton, welcomes all students to campus, especially those who are new to Boca Raton.

Mr. Howie explained to us that his responsibility is to "coordinate the Wilmington College program on the Marymount Campus," and that his primary concerns revolve around developing and building a strong four year program.

"In order to accomplish this," he explained, "I personally feel that communication is essential. In fact, it is the key to a productive year and future. We (the administration, faculty and student body) must minimize conflicts, eliminate misunderstandings, and resolve tensions in order to become personally and professionally effective."

"To the students," Mr. Howie continued, "I would say this is a year of great challenge — each student has the opportunity to participate in a true cultural experience. However, the students cannot shift the responsibility for attaining experience to the administration or faculty — each student must take an active part."

"We as an institution cannot conform to any immature expectations of any student. Each and every student should strive to elicit from this college, and primarily from the faculty, the aids which will help the student develop fully."

Mr. Howie concluded, "This year I sincerely hope that the students are willing and prepared for the challenge we offer."

Presidential Pardon

J.P. Weldon

Fifty thousand dead in Vietnam. A nation traumatized by a major governmental scandal. One president (now dead) forced to forego another run for that office. Thousands wounded, maimed, emotionally scarred. A Vice-President indicted, but allowed to escape trial and possible imprisonment. Finally, the first American president forced to resign, and now he is pardoned.

How much more can the national conscience withstand? How much more pain will America inflict on others and upon itself? Is there no end to this modern Bosch-like scenario? Is the final Armageddon a mild aftermath compared to this?

This writer will not assume that a deal was made which paved the way for President Ford to pardon Richard Nixon, for the conspiratorial view of history is too shallow. What deal could I possibly imagine anyway? Ford has already incurred the vehement wrath of both parties and Congress and most of the American people because of his action. Did he deal for that? Or, as some suppose, is this a price he expected to pay for some eventual decision on amnesty? Surely, he did not deliberately want to hurt his chances in 1976. Thus, it appears that like Nixon he misjudged the outrage factor of the American people. However, he has acted and now we must demand action from President Ford in the light of this new frame of reference.

Perhaps the time has come for a national act of forgiveness and reconciliation. It has been suggested that Nixon's health was a major factor in helping Ford arrive at his decision on the pardon. Some observers noted Nixon's deepening depression. Others stated that he had suffered enough. A few cried out that the nation would be scandalized even more by his prosecution and possible imprisonment.

If all this is true, then it is equally true for thousands of other Americans and their families that their inability to re-enter the U.S. because of their draft-dodger status has been suffering enough. Separation of families, the future aspect of not being able to acquire a good job, loss of friends, and inner, personal frustration seems to be punishment enough. So, has the time not yet come for a pardon for these men? Their president broke the law and is forgiven; do they deserve less?

Some will argue that the maimed and the dead demand the punishment or the conditional amnesty approach for these men. If that is so, then the paraplegics sitting four or more hours in Veteran hospitals waiting to be dried off due to a lack of orderlies (a situation hardly helped by Nixon's veto of aid to Veteran hospitals) demand that Nixon be totally punished. That cannot take place now, so the only justice and equity lies in total, unconditional amnesty for all.

We have killed on a grand scale. We have denied civil rights on a grand scale. We have infringed on civil liberties on a grand scale. We have turned our back on major, national priorities on a grand scale. We have practiced political apathy on a grand scale. Can we not pardon on a grand scale?

In the Cantic of the Sun, Francis of Assisi wrote, "Praised be Thou, my Lord, for all those who pardon one another for Thy love's sake."

Where To Go About What

Any freshman or sophomore who wishes to take an upper division course should see Mr. Kenneth Howie (Library Building) for permission.

Juniors or Seniors who need advising — see either Mr. Howie or Ms. Tittle in the Library Building.

Parking stickers were available at registration. If you missed getting one at registration, see Ms. Fields in the Library Building.

To change room or roommate, see Mr. Quirk in the Library Building. Mr. Quirk has informed us that no one will be allowed to change rooms or roommate until about a week after school starts, and students must work out the switch on their own, and then check with him before moving.

For any kind of counselling, see Dr. Favareau in the Library building.

Mail will be delivered to your mailbox in your dorm.

To sign up for sports, either intramurals or the basketball or women's tennis team, see Mr. Quirk. He will be posting further information on when and where to sign up soon after registration.

Schedule problems: There will be a $5 charge for each class change — drop and add. All class changes must be approved by the instructor whose class you are dropping and whose class you are adding, as well as by your faculty advisor. After you have obtained those approvals, see the Recorder, Miss Whitlock, in the Library building. No class changes will be permitted until Tuesday, Sept. 8. The last day to add a course is Sept. 13; to drop, Sept. 20. All Incompletes must be made up by Sept. 20.

For any problems in the dorm, such as dorm maintenance, or noise during quiet hours, see the proctor in your wing.

Open Your Mind

Two opportunities for Marymount students to visit other campuses for a weekend will be coming up this fall.

On October 25-27 a weekend will be held at Barry College.

On December 6-8 a weekend will be held at the Miami-Dade North Campus.

Both weekends will emphasize the spiritual and human in man. If you are interested, please contact Fr. Marty Devereaux for more information.
